Seaside town winters day English skies are always grey

G

D

Are you thinking of your home? So far away from home

Ice cold wind cuts right through the coat the boss man sold to you

Are you thinking of your home? So far away from home

You're strangers in this strange land nobody knows who you are

Shells like razors drawing blood as your hands turn blue in the silt and the mud

Are you thinking of your home? So far away from home

Sunrise until darkness falls as you labour for your bread and board

Are you thinking of your home? So far away from home

CHORUS:

BRIDGE: Who's to blame and who will pay who'll count the lives that were lost that day

Bm

Em

To the gangsters greed and the crashing waves as the tide rushed in on Morecambe bay

A better life a brighter day when the cruel sea washed all your dreams away

Were you thinking of your home? So far away from home

CHORUS:

Little red shoes on the sand little red shoes on the shore

Nobody knows your name nobody knows who you were
